

John J. Marshall (1862–1944)
Index to articles on Belfast Street-Names
published in the Belfast Telegraph 1940–41

Explanatory Notes

Transcript page numbers relate to the blue, brown and red bound copies held in the Heritage Department of Belfast City Library. The transcript bound in black has different page numbering.

In many cases, new streets have been built in the same neighbourhood since Marshall's time and named with the same qualifying elements, e.g. Abyssinia Walk built near Abyssinia Street. These modern streets have been listed with references to the street(s) dealt with by Marshall. Where it is doubtful that Marshall's interpretation is valid for a more recent street-name with the same qualifier, particularly where it is in a quite different locality, no additional reference has been included.

The article 'Belfast's Permanent Floral Display' published 28/02/41 is not included in the main index and is dealt with separately. Unlike the other articles, the vast majority of street-names in this piece are merely listed but not explained. It was decided, therefore, not to clutter the main index with unproductive references.
